SHELTERING ARMS HOSTS HIRING EVENT JUNE 10 TO STAFF NEW EARLY LEARNING CENTER

Current Openings Include Lead Teachers, Assistant Teachers and Food Service Managers

Atlanta, GA – May 17, 2017 - Sheltering Arms, Georgia's largest nonprofit early education and child care organization, today announced that it will host a hiring event to fill teacher and food service positions for its newest center, which will open at the start of the 2017-2018 school year. The agency also hopes to fill current positions at its other locations.

Sheltering Arms is seeking qualified candidates for lead teachers, full time and part time assistant teachers, substitute teachers, food service managers and assistants. The event will take place June 10, 8:30 a.m.-3:00 p.m., at the agency's administrative office located in downtown Atlanta, and will take candidates through every stage of the application and interview process, with the intention of making on-site offers.

Sheltering Arms announced earlier this year that it had raised $8.4 million to construct a new early education and family center on the campus of D. H. Stanton Elementary School near Turner Field. The 27,000 square-foot facility will serve approximately 180 children and their families.

"The opening of our 16th center is very exciting for a number of reasons," said Blythe Keeler Robinson, President and CEO, Sheltering Arms. "Chief among them is that Sheltering Arms has another opportunity to help make a community stronger. In this case, we're able to offer jobs to future team members who are just as passionate as we are about providing quality education to the youngest members of society while supporting their families with the resources and tools they need to be successful."

Interested candidates should register for the event by applying for a position at <http://getjob.applytojob.com/apply>, and arrive in professional business attire with the following items: a valid state ID or driver's license, a copy of the resume, and a copy of all college transcripts and educational certifications or high school diploma/GED.
